Vision & Theme

About the Logo

Centennial Committee and Staff

Sponsors

Newsroom

News Coverage

Press Releases

E-News & Social Media

The Burnham Blog

Get Involved

Contact Us

THE BURNHAM BLOG

Future Leaders of Illinois

by Patrick T. Reardon on Tue, 06/16/2009 - 5:53pm.

High school students who want to learn more about the metropolitan region and plan for its future have until Friday, June 26, to apply for the Future Leaders in Planning program.

The program is sponsored by the Chicago Metropolitan Agency for Planning, and is looking for high school students from each of the seven counties of the region --- Cook, DuPage, Kane, Kendall, Lake, McHenry and Will.

For information and an application, check here.

Applications can be filed on line or by mail. If mailed, an application must be postmarked no later than June 26.

» Login or register to post comments

THE BURNHAM BLOG

Urban planning touches every part of your day to day life, join the conversation that is shaping the region for the next 100 years.

➔ Register or Login to comment

ABOUT THIS BLOG

This blog is about history, planning and the future. It's rooted in the recognition that we live in a world that is created by plans — and by the failure to make plans. [MORE]

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Patrick T. Reardon is a Chicagoan, born and bred. He has been writing about the city, its region and planning issues, mainly in the Chicago Tribune, for nearly 40 years. [MORE]

The Burnham Plan Centennial
© Copyright 2009

c/o Chicago Metropolis 2020
30 West Monroe Street, 18th Floor Chicago, Illinois 60603 • (312)332-2020

Site developed and hosted by
The University of Chicago Library